Highlights from: "RACE IN AMERICA" by Tony Evans August 4, 2020

Recently, Trevin Wax had the opportunity to sit down with Dr. Tony Evans via video chat to speak on some of the racial injustice and discrimination issues facing our country and the church.

Trevin Wax: So Dr. Evans, I'm sure there are some pastors that are listening to you right now, and they're hearing this message, and they're on board with you; they realize the church needs to be part of the resolution of this predicament. But they may say, "Give me some counsel, advice." How would you counsel pastors who want to move forward and to step in to speak about some of these issues, but are afraid of what the reaction could be?

Tony Evans: Well, I do understand that sensitivity. Number one: God has set the stage for you because everybody else—everybody in the nation—is facing the problem. So this is not a side issue, okay? So you're being relevant.

Secondly of all, you must speak in love. Biblical love is a decision to compassionately, righteously, and responsibly seek the wellbeing of another. So the biblical doctrine of love can be brought to bear. Then, you speak about unity. John 17 and that the glory of God will only be manifested in the unity of the church. Therefore, we've got to face this because we need God. So let's put the blame on God, okay? II Chronicles 15:3-6 says, because the spiritual has been put aside there was no peace in the land, and then verse 6 says, "God troubled them with every kind of distress." So if God is our solution, and if you want a solution, then we've got to bring God to bear on this problem, and we have to now be on the frontlines of bringing unity within the church first and then let it spill over.

Tony Evans: So the church has been, unfortunately, has led the way because it gave the culture theological permission to segregate, to have criminal leasing, to have Jim Crow, to have illegitimate segregation, to have systems set up that were illegitimate, unfair. So I look at this, not only as a problem caused by the church, but as a predicament that can be resolved by the church, because once we get this right, the culture will have something to mimic.

"Once we get this right, the culture will have something to mimic."
